Greek Olive Oil

It is a precious gift Greek land has to offer to the world! The Greek olive oil is the basis of the Mediterranean Diet as it is considered to be the healthiest product of the Mother Nature. Greece produces more than 430,000 tons of olive oil annually, and more than 75% of that is Extra Virgin Olive oil, which is the best type of olive oil.

The 1st cultivation of the olive tree worldwide took place in Greece, & more specific in Crete. This happened about 3500 BC in the Early Minoan times. Very soon the cultivation passed to mainland Greece & the olive tree & its blessed product, the olive oil became synonyms of the Greek nutrition through centuries.

The love & high esteem of the Greek olive-grower for the olive tree is passed on from generation to generation and from family to family. With the birth of a child an olive tree is planted which will grow & develop along with the child. When the child starts school at the age of six, the olive tree is ready to produce its fruit.

Medical studies indicate that Mediterranean countries & specifically Greece, where olive oil consumption is high, suffer less cardiovascular problems from any other country in the world where the ratio of the consumption of animal fat is high or simply the nutrition parameters are poor.

The olive oil helps the normal function of the digestive system reducing to minimum the chances of ulcer creation & the other relative diseases, not to mention that is the best natural medicament for the fight against constipation.

It has been also proved that the use of olive oil in nutrition helps to sustain: Human metabolism at a good balance, body's growth & bone growth at a good level, good level of Vitamin E in our body which is well known to improve sexual life! It is the healthiest type of oil with 0% cholesterol, rich in Vitamins against aging!
