OUR

In 1976, I traveled through Indonesian waters for the first time. Because of our company's offshore oil exploration, I found myself going to unknown territories that have been left alone for centuries. Outside Java, many of Indonesia's lands remained basically untouched. And a lot of their stories, untold.

Fortunately, we lived to tell the tale. A tiger attacking an engineer in Kalimantan. Me face to face with Anatole, the house python. The magnificent sight of Phinisi fleets. It all felt unreal, like a hidden world or a forgotten era. I decided I would have to return.

So for the last 25 years, in my spare time, I've been sailing across Singapore to Papua on my own boats. But even then, I still cannot say that I know Indonesia - its biodiversity, geography, flora and fauna, its people, their culture, religions and beliefs.

So when the opportunity came, I decided to convert one of our heavy-duty ocean vessels into a luxury expedition yacht - comfort & style meets safety & security. Voyagers can explore farther than ever, go deeper into the unknown, and ride waves like never before. And still, at the end of the day, rest, assured.

Welcome on board, and bon voyage!

Remi Epstein

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Remi Epstein', written in a cursive style.

An aerial photograph of a vast, calm body of water, likely a bay or fjord, during the golden hour of sunset or sunrise. The sky is filled with soft, hazy clouds, and the water reflects the warm, golden light. In the distance, a long, low island stretches across the horizon. In the foreground, a small, white boat with a blue stripe is visible on the water. To the right of the boat, a small, dark, rocky island rises from the water. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

I am uncharted. An unknowable experience.
Just like the waters that I sail. They're never the same water twice.
Just like the waves that I ride. Because it's always a different high.

I am uncharted territory. A destination unknown.
Going everywhere. And ending up nowhere.
Willingly lost in an unmapped story. Unpinned and off the grid.

I am uncharted power. The quiet wanderer of the sea.
Unstirred by the stirring of the waves. Unshaken by neither wind nor rain.
I am a mighty vessel. Where voyagers rest, assured.

I am uncharted waters. Unruled by a system. Ungoverned.
Just like the wind. Blowing in their own direction.
There is no world that's hidden from me. There is no place I'm unable to reach.

I am uncharted.

EXPEDITIONS

It's time to plan your trip into the uncharted territories of Indonesia.

This is your invitation.

SURF

Get ready to experience a rich and diverse Indonesia like no one ever else will. Discover the cultures and traditions of some of the world's lesser-known communities. Head to Nusa Tenggara Timur where you can have hidden the surf breaks of Savu and Sumba mostly to yourself. Or, have you ever surfed in Papua where we practically never see another soul in the lineup?

Beyond the surf, we witness villages forgotten in time, go fishing, or relax on pristine beaches after a long session of sharing tropical waves with your friends or family.

DIVE

You can snorkel or dive at some of the world's best sites to meet manta rays and whale sharks. With East Indonesia sitting right in the heart of the Coral Triangle, encounter more coral fish species than in any other waters on the planet.

Look for the hammerhead sharks in the Banda Sea, explore healthy reefs throughout the archipelago, or witness the Wobbegong, a rare shark species endemic to this corner of the world. To make the journey even greater, you'll also get a moment to take in the most breathtaking beaches and volcano landscapes in the country.

BESPOKE JOURNEYS

Embark on a journey with friends and family where everything can be tailored: A mix of activities and a bespoke route.

Start your journey in Komodo and go beyond to discover the myths of Flores with its volcanoes and villages hidden deep in the mountains.

Or tick the boxes of Raja Ampat before you set out to explore the wonders of Triton Bay where we discover gushing waterfalls, paradisiac beaches, and welcoming locals.

Indonesia, with its 17,000+ islands, 600 languages, and unrivaled natural beauty, has it all. Customize your experience to suit your passion.

We'll follow the monsoon to sail in calm seas and avoid rain. You'll have the luxury of tailoring your trip, selecting your preferred destinations and undoubtedly gather some excellent tales of the sea.

KOMODO & BEYOND

When you arrive in Nusa Tenggara Timur (East Nusa Tenggara), you'll be treated to over 500 islands of rich marine biodiversity and bubbling volcanoes.

The most famous of the islands form Komodo National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site that's also home to the world's largest lizard, the Komodo dragon. When you're ready, leave the creatures for the beautiful crater lakes of Kelimutu and terraced fields of Detusoko. Then head to Ngada to find fjords, waterfalls, traditional villages, megalithic formations, and a warm welcome from the locals.

These are islands unpinned and off the grid. And they are waiting for you to find them.

BANDA & THE SPICE ISLANDS

With nutmeg, mace, and clove once exclusively found there, Maluku, also known as the Spice Islands, was for centuries the most sought-after in the world.

As avid adventurers, you can walk the paths of history, making your way through nutmeg and cinnamon plantations as well as colonial architecture.

When you're done learning about the past, continue to discover the rest of Wallacea, a key contributor to the megabiodiversity of the Indonesian archipelago. Snorkel in pristine waters to see the most resilient coral and breathtaking underwater worlds. These islands come with great stories of old, unstirred by the stirring of the waves.

Let's take the time to hear them all.

PAPUA, TRITON BAY & RAJA AMPAT

Papua played a pivotal part in the study of the evolution with its unique, endemic flora and fauna. Today, that fascinating biodiversity that holds the secret to our existence is still alive and flourishing.

Out at sea, pristine coral, extraordinary marine life and historical wrecks all come together to deliver a wonderland for both, seasoned and amateur divers as well as snorkellers.
